1. Fifty-thousand troops of the North Korean army have completed training in the T'unghua (125-57, 41-43) and Antung areas. Troops representing 3 unidentified corps were moving into North Korea in early April.
2. Most of the troops mentioned in the above units were recruited in Manchuria during July and August 1951.¹ The North Korean army dispatched 600 officers to the Manchurian training centers last September. However, the majority of officers and non-commissioned officers in these units are from the Chinese Communist army.
